Macro to Micro and Back Again

My work brings together what I love most about design and furniture. A big idea with well-executed details producing an interior with great impact. My work puts the puzzle pieces together to create an environment that meets all the requirements of my client, from productivity to aesthetics to budget. I assemble the right partners to complete the project, to create a team that works together with professionalism, quality workmanship, and respect for the client's work environment.

My degree in Architecture gives me a full design perspective, in terms of 3D space and structure - the big-picture view of a project. With nearly 25 years of experience in the contract furniture industry, I have been involved in all aspects of interior projects, from design and specification to implementation and installation. I look forward to helping your vision take shape.
